A German bakery expresses their support to Ukraine by selling “peace doughnuts”. The pastries are decorated in Ukrainian national colors and are made to raise money for children forced to flee after Russia's invasion.

Topped in blue and yellow frosting, the donuts are sold for one euro per piece and 100% of the money collected will be donated to Ukrainian children seeking refuge in Frankfurt.

"We thought we had to do something very quickly..." bakery co-owner Tanja Huck said. "We decided to ... make an extra product that is not that expensive, so it is affordable for everyone and which you can take many with you to the office," Huck added.

People were touched by the campaign and wanted to express their support by buying the doughnuts. (Reuters)
