Narrator: Once upon a time, there was a beautiful castle in a land faraway. In the castle there lived the most beautiful queen. The queen only had one wish which is to be happy and to have a beautiful baby girl.

Good Queen: I wish to have a baby girl with skin as white as snow, eyes brighter than the shiniest jewel, and lips as red as cherry. And most of all, I want my baby to always be happy.

Narrator: And one day the wish of the good-hearted queen came true. She had a beautiful baby girl and they named her Snow White.

Years went by, the queen became sick and soon after passed away. After a while, the king remarried another woman. The new queen had an evil heart. She was jealous of Snow White and asked the mirror everyday...

Evil Queen: Mirror mirror on the wall who's the fairest of them all?

Mirror: No one your highness, you are the most beautiful one.

Narrator: But one day the mirror gave a different answer.

Evil Queen: Mirror mirror on the wall who's the fairest of them all?

Mirror: Well I am sorry but not you dear queen, Snow White is fairest of all.

Narrator: The queen was angry hearing it. She immediately called her huntsman.

Evil Queen: Huntsman, huntsman!

Huntsman: Yes, my Queen.

Evil Queen: Take Snow White into the forest and kill her and bring back her heart!

Evil Queen: Snow White, come here my dear.

Snow White: Yes, my Queen.

Evil Queen: The huntsman will take you to the forest for a walk.

Snow White: Oh! Nice, thank you!

Huntsman: Shall we go?

Narrator: The huntsman took her to the forests but he couldn't hurt her. He asked her to run away from the castle and the evil queen. Snow White went further into the woods and found a tiny house.

Snow White: Oh a tiny house! How cute! And there are seven little beds but oh my it's very messy. I will clean it first and take a nap later.

Dwarf1: Who are you and why are you here?

Snow White: I'm Snow White. My stepmother, the Queen, wants to kill me.

Dwarf1: That is awful.

Narrator: The queen learned that Snow White is still alive and decided to kill her. The queen, disguised as an old woman, offered an apple to eat. Snow White took a bit of the apple and as she did she passed out.

Dwarfs, while returning home, saw the evil queen in the disguise of an old woman. They chased her to the top of the mountain. When she reached the mountaintop, she was hit by a lightning bolt and fell off the mountain and died. The dwarfs thought Snow White was dead. They placed her in a glass coffin and kept her in the forest. Then a charming prince passed by the woods and saw. He fell in love with Snow White at first sight. He lifted her and kissed her.

Snow White: My name is Snow White. Thank you for saving me.

Prince: Will you marry me, Snow White?

Snow White: Yes, I will.

Narrator: The Prince and Snow White got married and lived happily ever after. The end.
