

Agentic AI Assistants

ARTICLE READING

The next generation of artificial intelligence is moving beyond simple chat boxes. New "agentic" AI assistants are designed to take real action on your behalf. Instead of just answering questions, these digital assistants can independently log into apps, book your flights, manage your calendar, and handle boring administrative paperwork without you needing to click a single button. The goal is to free humans from repetitive daily tasks.