

US-Russia Diplomatic Talks

ARTICLE READING

Diplomatic engagement between the United States and Russia has intensified, centered on the ongoing war in Ukraine. Recent communications between President Donald Trump and President Vladimir Putin have been described as "businesslike and highly constructive," with the U.S. reaffirming its readiness to facilitate a peaceful settlement to the conflict. These high-level discussions are occurring alongside preparations for the upcoming NATO summit in Ankara, signaling a pivotal moment for international security and potential de-escalation strategies.